To whom it may concern,

After observing the dramatic effect that music therapy had on patients receiving therapy, I decided that music therapy would be beneficial to residents receiving therapy in our facilities. This program was added to one of the facilities that I supervise. One result was a more cooperative resident with a faster period of recovery. In addition to the use of music therapy in our rehabilitation department, we also included music therapy in our activity program. This has resulted in a fun, creative interaction in which residents not receiving therapy can enjoy music and actively participate in a socially and cognitively stimulating program. After experiencing the positive benefits of music therapy, we have included information about music therapy in our marketing packets. In fact, Stonegate Senior Care has initiated a wellness program in most of our facilities which includes music therapy as a component. Music therapy is a very important component of our services to our residents because of the positive effect on the medical, social, and general wellness of our residents.

Sincerely,

Lonnie Hoffpauir;
Regional Director of Operations
